

2026 Junior Poetry Winner

The Barn in the Snow

by Fisher Kernohan

The snow lies soft and still
Under a sky so bright yet chill.
Some logs are stacked in perfect rows,
Half hidden in the fallen snow.

A lonely barn off to the side,
Doors fully open and dark inside.
The trees are tall, embracing the air.
Quiet kids stand watching there.

* * * * *

Fisher Kernohan
Grade 9
Lakefield College School